Hunting Party Failed to Find Cache
And Ate Body of Indian.

Montreal, June 15.—From the far north comes an "almost incredible story of cannibalism" which has shocked the lives," in September, Joseph Guénet, son of Mr. Bernard, of Paris, France, left Quebec with the intention of hunting north of the Arctic circle, and was subsequently employed as guide. In January a party left Pointe Blason on a fur hunting expedition and reached the village of Joseph Guénet, of Quebec, found the guide in a boggy ground where the Guénet party had stayed. ~~There~~ ^{about} were evidences of a fight, and the guide was killed. He carried a note and was found, reading: "Could not find cache; we are without food. I go to Quebec as possible." Some articles of clothing were found, marked "Guénet" and others "Lévesque." Not finding any trace of the men the men took the trail and found the bodies of the two on April 2 the Mackenzie Trading Co.

The second man's body has since been discovered and had been partly eaten by the same pack of wolves. Today the men decided to give up the hunt for the first man as it is believed he is dead.

GUARANTEED RAILWAY BONDS

Calgary Board of Trade will Submit Motion Aiming to Secure Railway Guarantee for Pioneer Railways

Calgary, June 15.—After a keen and vigorous debate in which practically all those who were present took part, the Board of Trade this afternoon passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That the Board of Trade at its next meeting recommend to the government the policy of guaranteeing the bonds of the railways operating in the province."

Two amendments were offered. One was that the Board of Trade should be authorized to submit a memorial to the government asking that the guarantee be made for the railways operating in the province. The other was that the Board of Trade should be authorized to submit a memorial to the government asking that the guarantee be made for the railways operating in the province.

amendment by Mr. Short added to the resolution "Subject to such safeguards as the government sees fit to

The original motion was passed by a vote of twelve to six. It was stated by those in favor of the motion that it was expected that the government would safeguard the interests of the province and that any additions to the resolution would cause confusion. It was also stated frequently that the

It was also stated frequently that the resolution favored a policy and had no special reference to any railway.

No Particular Board in Mind.

The railway resolution was introduced by E. J. Hutchings, who was very careful to insist that the resolution was not confined to any particular road or to any place. He produced a letter from a gentleman interested in the Elk River Lumber Co., which owns coal lands in the vicinity of Cowley, that with the assistance suggested such a guarantee of bonds, that a road would be built at an early date from Route to Calaveras. amendment that the resolution be not submitted and gave the following his reasons:

1st.—It failed to express the intended contract and was therefore obscure and—

2nd.—It involved a large liability without any guarantee that the people in return for such guarantee—

3rd.—It favored the principle of guaranteeing the people's health and would naturally involve the governments in a large liability for compensation made, primarily to meet benefit of the people, and not to the line from Regina and Calgary.

4th.—The bonds are not to cover a large liability, but to guarantee the value of such is problematical.

5th.—There is no guarantee that the money would be used for materially lasting construction.

6th.—No agreement for ten guarantee bonds, but only for five.

7th.—The government secure control rates.

8th.—The majority of the delegates to the Medicine Hat convention would naturally be opposed to having the governments assume such liability unless the benefits were general.

Mr. Georgeson made a very sturdy defence of his motion, taking it up point by point. To this Mr. Hutchings made a brief reply, defending the policy of the guarantee of bonds.

SATURDAY'S GRAIN MARKETS.

Winnipeg, June 13.—The Liverpool market was 15 to 15 1/2 higher, advance being due to bad weather reports from the American and Canadian crops. This started the market higher in the West, especially in the July option and at one time it looked like a regular bull market, selling up to 25 cents today but on a profit taking, sold down to 15 1/2. The July option, however, was not so strong as it only closed 1/4 higher. The American market was fairly steady, closing 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher. Heavy rains again last night in the U.S. In June prices the grain is dead ripe and on account of the water logged condition of the soil will not be cut for 10 or 20 days even with the best of weather. Winnipeg prices are: No. 1 Northern, 1.04 1/2; No. 2 Northern, 1.01 1/2; No. 3 Northern, .98 1/2; No. 4, .95 1/2; No. 5, .92 1/2; No. 6, 71 feed, .86 1/2; No. 2 feed, .84. TODAY'S GRAIN MARKETS.

Winnipeg, June 15.—The markets today were on the whole nervous and erratic. Liverpool closed 1/2 to 1 1/2 higher on account of higher American prices and reports of bad weather in the U.S. The American markets opened fairly strong, but eased off in noon trading, and the market here was as bullish as ever, but seems to be ignored today. Chicago July closed 1/2 lower, but September is 1/2 higher. Minneapolis July closed lower and September 1/2 lower. The Winnipeg July was strong on the news of a drought in the U.S. but the October declined a cent in sympathy with prices in American markets. The United States supply supply decreased 2,650,000 bushels, but the demand for wheat is 1,070,000. World's shipments for the month were 8,600,000 bushels. The C.P.R. has 40,000 last week and 11,500,000 last week. Winnipeg prices are: No. 1 Northern, 1.04 1/2; No. 2 Northern, .98 1/2; No. 3 Northern, .95 1/2; No. 4, .92 1/2; No. 5, .89 1/2; No. 6, 71 feed, .86 1/2; No. 2 feed, .84.  Just think, it would take ten years, and keep a house clean, to get out one lot of ammunition. We sold recently in the States. The buyer was skeptical and examined our testing methods until he felt reasonably safe.
 He sold the lot and waited for the results of actual use. A test. Not a complaint was heard out of the entire lot.
 For all make of guns. Give your order to the nearest dealer in the city or to the Edmonton Ice Co. Ltd., Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

EDWARD /ND NICHOLAS.

A storm of criticism has been taken in international circles in England over the visit of the King to the Czar on account of the Czar's opposition to popular forms of government. It is a matter that can be easily left to King Edward, whose tactful diplomacy has done a great deal to raise the prestige of British diplomacy and influence in the councils of the world since he ascended the throne—a prestige unknown since the days of Palmerston.

The meeting of the monarchs is interesting because they represent the two most powerful empires on earth and embody the genius of the two races that will ultimately rule in the world—the Teuton and the Slav. Their meeting is a happy sequel of the consummation of the Anglo-Russian convention which has constituted a policy of co-operation for the long, inevitable rivalry of the last quarter of a century on the Persian and Afghan borders, and an assurance of extended amicable relations.

The relations between the two Powers have been for a long time sympathetic and have anticipated to an immense degree. Yet there are strong historical and dynastic relations why amity should prevail between the two Powers. Even the terrible, the first who assumed the name of Czar, sought an English bride, though he did not find one. He sought to establish a defensive and offensive alliance with Russia, and he asked her to secure him an asylum in England if he were driven out of Russia. Peter the Great burned and pillaged and slaughtered in England. At the present time the Czar is the nephew of the Queen of England and the Czarina is a niece of King Edward, and was the favorite grandchild of Queen Victoria.

The causes of antagonism were real enough, beginning early in the last century with the Holy Alliance, and widening and intensifying during the Crimean war. England, too, has stood firmly against Russian designs on European Turkey and the Russification of the Bosphorus, and jealousy of Russian influence at Kabul and Tientsin. The fact and all other causes of friction between the two Powers may or may not be disposed of through the King's visit. It is certain, however, that taking into consideration the Czar's ideas of administrative methods, that he will be more disposed to treat such questions with King Edward than with the Foreign Minister. At any rate the "irrepressible conflict of London and Moscow" is past and a strong guarantee is set up for the peace of the world.

A CAMPAIGN OF MISREPRESENTATION.

Some time ago the Journal published a scare heading on its first page to the effect that Mr. T. A. Burrows had been granted an area of land equal to one-third of the whole land grant to the C.P.R. In its following issue the Journal corrected the statement by explaining that the area was only one-tenth of what the scare had made it, but neglected to say that Mr. Burrows had purchased the right to cut timber and get no land whatever, but that is a small thing for the Journal to omit. The result of this journalistic performance is that Tory speakers in all parts of the Province are retelling the original falsehood. Even Mr. Herbert, the first lieutenant of the Premier in opposition, in a recent speech before the McCarthy Club at Calgary, is reported as having repeated the "one-third as large as the C.P.R." yarn, and at a number of meetings in the country it is being diligently retold.

It is no uncommon thing for our esteemed contemporary to exaggerate or misrepresent, and this one instance goes to show what inaccurate effect a malicious "story may have when once set afloat. A good many waiting Tory speakers will have a very high opinion of their newspaper when they have to take back statements they quote from it.

HOW IT PROTECTS.

The Saturday Evening Post calls attention to the condition of the cotton industry of the United States under the editorial title of "Little Ironies of Protection." The point made by the Post's article is that dividends to the stockholders always take precedence over wages to the employee, and that the specious argument put forth by the manufacturers in favor of protection is that it is to benefit labor; doesn't work out according to the theory. The article is simply another indictment of the selfishness of protection, a policy that makes a pretense of "protecting" the laborer but always makes the manufacturer the first beneficiary, and never ensures to the working man a dollar more in wages than the keenest competition will award him. The Post's article reads as follows:

"It seems to me we have heard a rumor, more or less definite, of somewhat less times in New Jersey than a great cotton industry. Has it been mentioned in the press that labor was employed on part time, with consequent extensive purging of labor's and too extensive loss, or did we dream it? At this writing adjustment of the wages scale for the coming year is in prospect. 'It is figured,' says a trade authority, 'that the adjustment will cut the price of weaving about fifteen per cent. No trouble, however, is expected to follow the announcement of the new scale'—labor presumably demanding a reduced rate superior to none."

"It is a pleasure to know that the business does not extend to all those who are engaged in this great industry. The Fall River mill has announced their dividends for the first half of the current year. The average return to stockholders is at the rate of practically eight per cent. As a year ago a capital of $1,000,000 has been paid in 'extra' dividends has been paid in 1907."

"Stockholders, no doubt, are as firmly convinced as ever that a protective tariff, for the benefit of labor, is essential to the success of the industry."
